The name of Jesus is the glory of preachers, because the shining splendour of that name causes God's word to be proclaimed and heard.

GOSPEL REFLECTION

After foreshadowing how he will make himself the way forward for struggling humanity, Jesus gives himself to prayer, and the tangible presence of the Father and the Spirit point to the full implications of the saving mystery that is to come. There is a symmetry in the gospel story - if the Saviour's public life ends with the climax of the Paschal Mystery, it begins with a foreshadowing of this same mystery, as Jesus goes into the waters of the world's sinfulness and emerges into the glory of the Father's acceptance. Christian baptism has its meaning from both these events. As Paul writes, we 'were baptised into his death' that with him we might 'begin living a new life'. Today's reading from Paul's letter to Titus reminds us of the great benefits that are ours through baptism's 'cleansing water of rebirth', now that finally 'God's grace has been revealed, and it has made salvation possible for the whole human race'.

Misericordiae Vultus – The Face of Mercy

In 2016, we will share extracts from the document Misericordiae Vultus (The Face of Mercy). The bull of indiction focuses on the theme for the Jubilee Year, namely "Merciful Like the Father". In it, Pope Francis reminds that we are each called to a journey of "spiritual conversion."

"Jesus Christ is the face of the Father's mercy...Mercy has become living and visible in Jesus of Nazareth, reaching its culmination in him." (par 1, MV)
